

The Inland Northwest Artisan Grains Podcast

A Programmatic Adaptation to the COVID-19 Pandemic

THE IRB, RECORDING & OUTREACH PROCESSES

PROJECT OUTCOMES

Personal communication with podcast guests indicates the podcast has:

- Expanded markets for Inland Northwest artisan grains through new contracts with a Napa Valley boutique brewery and a top brand national “microbrewery.”
- A collaboration with a major west coast university.
- Increased visibility of podcast guests’ businesses and expanded regional artisan grains networks

AUTHORS

Colette DePhelps, Community Food Systems Area Extension Educator, Northern District
Ali Schultheis, Community Food Systems Program Assistant, Northern District

UI Moscow is located on the homelands of the Nimipuu (Nez Perce), Palus (Palouse) and Schitsu'umsh (Coeur d'Alene) tribes. We extend gratitude to the indigenous people that call this place home, since time immemorial. UI recognizes that it is our academic responsibility to build relationships with the indigenous people to ensure integrity of tribal voices. It is UI of I policy to prohibit and eliminate discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, sexual orientation and gender identity/expression, age, disability, or status as a Vietnam-era veteran. This policy applies to all programs, services, and facilities, and includes, but is not limited to, applications, admissions, access to programs and services, and employment.

GOAL

Support the development of artisan grains value-based supply chains and production of value-added artisan grains products in the Inland Northwest region of Idaho, Washington, Oregon, and Montana.

OBJECTIVES

- Provide education and support for the development of Inland Northwest artisan grain supply chains and value-added products.
- Provide producers, bakers, brewers, community development practitioners and technical assistance providers with an in-depth understanding of the process, business relationships, and community assets necessary to establish local/regional artisan grains value-chains.
- Assist podcast guests (farmers and businesses involved in artisan grain value-based supply chains) in identifying opportunities for improvement and/or expansion.
- Provide a novel marketing opportunity for podcast guests.
- Conduct IRB-approved research using a case study approach to understand the opportunities and challenges associated with developing and operating artisan grain value-chains.

Visit the Inland Northwest Artisan Grains webpage inwartisangrains.org to listen to podcast episodes and join the mailing list to get podcast and event announcements!

